

Postgraduate Study in Acute Care Nursing

Caring for every patient, every time

About the Course

If you have a passion for acute care nursing and a particular specialty with acute care then this is the course for you!

Undertaking post graduate studies in acute care (medical or surgical with further specialisation) will enable you to enhance your theoretical knowledge base and clinical patient care skills in a supported environment

- The course is facilitated in conjunction with LaTrobe University and begins in late February each year
- You will enroll in the Masters of Nursing (Acute Care) and then choose your exit point
- You will need to ensure that you are working at least 0.6 EFT in acute care setting. Hours outside this will be discussed on an individual basis.
- Depending on the stream you enroll in, content delivery is with LaTrobe University School of Rural Nursing, or via a blended model with some content provided by Bendigo Health and the remainder of your subjects with LaTrobe University. The Bendigo Health content is a blend of face to face and online content.

Our Facilities

Bendigo Health is a leader in regional health care, combining outstanding services with a strong education, training and personal development culture. Employing over 4000 staff Bendigo Health provides a state of the art modern facility that is only 3 years old. Recognising the diverse and unique patient cohorts cared for in acute settings in regional Victoria, the course is designed to address the breadth and depth of acute care nursing knowledge and skills across different clinical areas. You can choose from general medical, general surgical, respiratory, cardiac, oncology, renal, orthopaedics or thoracic surgery.
